Chancellor of the Exchequer, said that the terms upon which this loan had been ured by the Allies were fair and that the Government strongly recommended the loan to Parliament and immediate passage through all stages.

He said that deducting accrued inrest the British 4 by per cent, loan now stands at 36%. As the American under-writers took the loan at 96, he argued. freat Britain was merely paying 1/2 of 1 per cent, more than the market rate.

Paying Britain's Debt.

The loan," said Mr. McKenna, "is the purpose of paying our trade debt and maintaining our exchange in the United States. Our imports from North America have largely increased since the beginning of the war, and our exports have diminished. The increase in imports for the first six months of 1915, excluding Government supplies, not included in the customs returns, amounted to £58,500,000 ($292,500,000). and the reduction in exports during the same period was 112,000,000, thus making the adverse balance f70,000,000. ANGLO-FRENCH LOAN U. S. RENEWS ITS U-BOAT VOTED BY COMMONS STAND IN NEW FRYE NOTE

Chancellor McKenna Secures Insists That Victims on Ships Sunk by German Submarines Shall Not Be Placed in Open Boats at Sea.

> Washington, Oct. 12.—The State Department forwarded to-day to Ambassador Gerard at Berlin a note in reply to Germany's last communication in the Germany's last communication in the case of the William P. Frye, the American schooner cunk by the German commerce cruiser Prinz Eitel Friedrich last winter. The note will be made public later by arrangement with the Berlin Foreign Office.

The discussion of the Frye case has passed beyond the confines of the matters involved in that incident into an argument on general principles having a bearing on Germany's conduct of her submarine operations. The two Governments have reached an agreement that the damages in the Frye case are to be determined by a joint committee of experts, but have become involved in a dispute as to the proper interpretation of the treaty of 1828 between the United States and Prussia. This dispute they have practically agreed to submit to ar-

Bearing on Submarine Issue. The raising of this question has a dimarine issue, as it has been the practice of Germany in cases where warning was given of submarine attacks to place passengers and crews in the ship's boats, it being impracticable, of course, for the submarines to take any persons on board. The fear has been expressed in many quarters that the settlement of the submarine issue would find the in many quarters that the settlement of the submarine issue would find the United States agreeing tacitly or other-The contention in the Frye note re- German moves all danger of this, however, and vessels.

sengers of enemy vessels take to their ship's boats they will be stopped from sinking any American vessel if they subscribe to the contention of the United States.

It has been pointed out by officials that the United States thus far has not formally accepted or agreed to any contention of Germany in the submarine issue. The Germans pledged themselves not to attack passenger ships without regard for the safety of those on board. The procedure in a given case will be the basis, it is said, of determining whether or not there has been proper regard for the safety of those on board. The contention in the Frye note leaves no room for doubt as to the attitude of

To Sink Absolute Contraband.
